Don't pass up the opportunity to enjoy Hot Air Balloon Luxor while making travel plans to Luxor because it will allow you to explore the West Bank of Luxor from the air. Pharaonic tombs and funerary temples are examples of antiquities found on the Western Bank of Luxor. The Valley of the Kings, a royal cemetery for 62 Pharaohs that houses spectacular tombs of kings and nobles that date back to the eighteenth and twenty-first Dynasties, may be seen from the air while you explore the area. Between roughly 1539 BC and 1075 BC, the Valley was used for principal burials. It has about 60 tombs, beginning with Thutmose I and concluding with Ramesses X or XI.

The Valley was built to prevent looting of the mummified remains and valuables of the Pharaohs. One of the most charming archaeological sites in Luxor is the Valley of the Kings, which is hidden behind the cliffs that serve as a backdrop to the intricate temple of Al Deir el-Bahri. Originally, the Valley of the Kings contained one hundred chambers, but sadly, some of them were stolen and some were destroyed. However, there are still about sixty undamaged chambers, and some of these tombs still contain valuable items and artifacts, such as the Tomb of Yuya and Thuya and the Tombs of Tutankhamun.

With a Hot Air Balloon Ride Luxor, you may let your soul soar while admiring the magnificent Temple of Queen Hatshepsut, which is regarded as one of the best temples still surviving without being damaged and was built in honour of the Queen Hatshepsut. Due to its form and embellishments, as well as the fact that it was constructed of limestone rather than sandstone like the majority of the other funerary temples of the New Kingdom period, the temple is one of the best preserved in Egypt and one of the most distinctive in all of Egypt.

Enjoy reading the inscriptions on the temple walls that describe Queen Hatshepsut's holy birth and her business journeys to the Punt country, which is now known as the contemporary state of Somalia. Enjoy your eyes and mind while viewing the magnificent monuments of the Temple of Hatsheput and its ornate inscriptions, which also depict the intense conflict between Hatsheput and her nephew and son-in-law Tuthmosis. Many of her statues were damaged during this time, and Tuthmosis III's servants and supporters also destroyed the majority of her belongings and cartouches after she mysteriously passed away.
